

Operational Procedure

Foreign Influence Disclosure

1.0 Purpose and Scope

The Foreign Influence Transparency Scheme Act 2018 (Cth) (FITSA) imposes registration obligations for individuals and entities that undertake a registrable activity on behalf of a foreign principal or enter into a registrable arrangement with a foreign principal. The scheme established under the FITSA aims to improve transparency with respect to foreign influence over Australia's political and government processes.

This procedure needs to be understood in relation to the suite of policies and procedures designed to effectively manage and align the interests of the University of Queensland's (UQ) staff and UQ as a whole in line with community standards and expectations and in compliance with all applicable laws.

Under this procedure UQ staff will be required to disclose any activities which may give rise to a requirement to register for the purpose of ensuring compliance with the FITSA.

Note that there are registration exemptions for various roles and activities.

In addition, research grant applications to Commonwealth agencies with a foreign Chief Investigator (CI) do not need to be disclosed. Standard academic publications, which do not have the sole, primary or a substantial purpose of influencing government and political processes, are also exempt.

This procedure applies to all academic staff and nominated senior staff.

1.1 Legislative context

Underpinning Australia's governance of its external relations is a legislative framework which includes the FITSA.

UQ has a responsibility to comply with the FITSA. The FITSA contains offences for non-compliance with the requirements of the scheme. These include:

- undertaking registrable activities while not being registered under the scheme;
- failing to fulfil responsibilities (e.g. reporting and disclosure obligations) under the scheme;
- providing false or misleading information or documents in relation to registration; and
- destroying records in connection with the scheme.

These offences can apply to individuals as well as body corporates.

2.0 Process and Key Controls

1. Academic staff and nominated senior staff are required to disclose registrable activities through UQ's Foreign Influence Disclosure tool (the 'Disclosure').
2. Disclosures made by academic staff and nominated senior staff through UQ's Foreign Influence Disclosure will be evaluated on a case by case basis by the Pro-Vice-Chancellor. The Pro-Vice-Chancellor may seek advice from relevant senior executives, including UQ's General Counsel (or delegate) and consult with the Chief Human Resources Officer (or delegate) and/or the Provost as part of the evaluation process.

3. If registration is required, this will be done externally through the Foreign Influence Transparency Scheme Public Register (the 'Transparency Register') housed on the Attorney-General's website.
4. Academic staff and nominated senior staff whose disclosures are assessed as registrable in the Transparency Register:
 - a) will undertake relevant processes for disclosure and registration as set out in section 3.2. Disclosure and registration requirements;
 - b) must not commence the registrable activity until they receive advice from UQ that the registration has been completed; and
 - c) must ensure the ongoing registration obligations are adhered to, which is a requirement under the [Conflict of Interest for Members of Staff – Procedures \[1.50.11b\]](#).
5. The conduct of staff in relation to this procedure, including potential breaches of the procedure, will be dealt in accordance with [Code of Conduct Policy \[1.50.01\]](#), particularly Ethical Principle 3, 'Commitment to the System of Government'. The conduct of academic staff in relation to research will be dealt with in accordance with [Responsible Conduct of Research Policy \[4.20.02\]](#), particularly Principle 3, 'Transparency in declaring interests and reporting research methodology, data and findings.'

3.0 Key Requirements

For an activity to be registrable, it must meet the following three criteria:

Criteria	What this means
Criterion 1: A person acts on behalf of a foreign principal.	The words "on behalf of" apply where a person acts under an arrangement with a foreign principal, in the service of the foreign principal, on the order or request of the foreign principal, or under the direction of the foreign principal, and both the person and the foreign principal knew or expected they would or might undertake the activity. It does not matter whether in-kind services or money is payable. "Foreign Principal" is defined as a: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • foreign government; • foreign political organisation; • foreign government related individual; or • foreign government related entity.
Criterion 2: The activity is a registrable activity.	The person undertakes one of the following activities in Australia: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • parliamentary lobbying (lobbying a member of parliament and certain parliamentary staff); • general political lobbying (lobbying a Commonwealth public official, department, agency or authority of the Commonwealth, a registered political party, or a federal election candidate or registered political campaigner); • communications activity (where information is disseminated to the public, or produced for communication to the public); <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ a disbursement activity (where money or things of value are distributed on behalf of a foreign principal); • activities performed by a staff member who is a former cabinet minister; or <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • activities performed by a staff member who is a recent designated position holder where the person contributes experience, knowledge, skills or contacts gained in their former capacity as a recent designated position holder.

Criterion 3: The registrable activity is undertaken for the purpose of political or government influence.	The sole, primary, or a substantial purpose of the activity is to influence any one or more of the following Australian federal government and political processes (or influence the public in relation to those matters): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • federal election or vote, • federal government decision, • proceeding of either House of Parliament • registered political party • independent member of Parliament • independent candidate in a federal election • political campaigner.

3.1 Additional considerations for registration

The following additional considerations are applicable in determining whether a disclosure requires registration:

1. Parliamentary lobbying on behalf of a foreign government is a registrable activity whether or not the purpose is political or government influence. However, parliamentary lobbying on behalf of a foreign government related entity, foreign political organisation or foreign government related individual is only a registrable activity where the purpose is political or government influence.
2. The term lobbying has a broad meaning and includes communicate, in any way, with a person or a group of persons for the purpose of influencing any process, decision or outcome, and represent the interests of a person in any process.
3. The requisite purpose must be determined by reference to the intention of the person undertaking the activity or their belief about the intention of the foreign principal and either the intention of any foreign principal or the circumstances in which the activity is undertaken.
4. Examples of federal government decisions include decisions made by the Executive Council, Cabinet or a committee of Cabinet, a Minister or Ministers, a Commonwealth entity, a Commonwealth company, or an individual in the course of performing his or her functions.
5. For activities that a person undertakes as a former Cabinet Minister or recent designated position holder, there is no requirement to establish the purpose is political or government influence.
6. The term designated position holder means a Minister, MP, a member of staff of a Minister, an agency head, a deputy agency head, a holder of an office under a law of the Commonwealth equivalent to that of agency head or deputy agency head and an Ambassador or High Commissioner. A recent designated position holder is a person who held the position at any time in the last 15 years, but who is not holding the office at the particular time.

7. A transparency notice issued under the Act may state that a person is a foreign government related entity or foreign government related individual.

3.2 Disclosure and registration requirements

Academic staff and nominated senior staff must complete the Disclosure (internal registration) on an annual basis. If a disclosure is evaluated as requiring registration on the Transparency Register, the University will apply for registration on the staff member's behalf. In accordance with the FITSA, the period for registration on the Transparency Register is 14 days.

A person who is registered under the scheme must comply with several ongoing obligations as follows:

- Annual renewal of registration. Registration must be renewed each year if the registrable activities continue.
- Updating information. Registrants must keep the registration information updated.
- Obligations during federal election period. When a voting period begins, a registrant must within 14 days review their registration information and provide a notice to confirm registration is up to date, or if information is not up to date, update the information. During a voting period, a registrant must report any parliamentary or general political lobbying or communications activity undertaken on behalf of the foreign principal which relates to the vote within seven days of the activity commencing. Similarly, registrants must report within seven days disbursement activities relating to the vote which reach the electoral donations threshold or multiples of this threshold.
- Disclosure requirements for registrable 'communications activity.' Particular disclosure obligations apply to communications activities that are registrable activities. The specific requirements differ depending on the type of communications activity being undertaken.
